Ask the Motor Medics
Automotive Advice from The Under the Hood® Show

Dear Motor Medics,
My car is giving me problems but they don't always occur. I have a starting problem that sometimes won't let the car crank and also an ABS lamp that comes and goes. My shop can't seem to find the cause and even though they have not charged me for looking at the car I'm very frustrated by the situation and my shop seems to be as well. I have been going there for a number of years and they have always taken care of me but I wonder if I should try somewhere else to get this fixed.

Mark in Oklahoma City

Dear Mark,
You have what many folks have and it's called an intermittent problem. These are the ones that give the customer frustrations and also the mechanics. It is nearly impossible to find a problem if it is not occurring while it is trying to be found. They do what they can to scan for codes and observe data to see if anything is out of specs but in the end, if it's not broke... you know the saying. The shop can get frustrated because their time is worth money. Every minute they spend looking at your vehicle they lose money if they can't fix your car but they are looking at it and not charging you because they value your past and continued business. It may be time to wait until it is worse so they can find it.

Take care, the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,
I have a problem with my tires. They leak air on a regular basis and I have taken the car in several times to have them repaired but they can't seem to get them fixed. The tires and valve stems have been replaced with new ones and they just can't seem to get them to stop leaking. they lose about 2 pounds a week. The car is a 2011 Chrysler 300.

Peter in Rice Lake Wisconsin

Dear Peter,
We experience many vehicles that leak air in this fashion. It's no fun having to add air every week to keep your tires from going flat. You have done the things that you should to try and fix the issue but there may be more to it than the tires or valve stems. The actual metal of the wheels themselves can leak air right through them like a screen door. The metal becomes so porous over the years from the element breaking them down that the air escapes right through the wheels. Once this occurs the only fix that we have found is to replace the wheels. There are a couple of options for repair. You could look for a good set of used wheels at your local auto recycler or you could look into a set of aftermarket wheels available at wheel and tire shops. Going the aftermarket route will let you choose an option that will give your vehicle a unique look.

Take care, the Motor Medics

Coming in tomorrow's

BRANDON VALLEY Journal

Brandon Wellness made a big announcement Monday morning, and Journal editor Jill Meier was there to document the milestone moment.

We'll have an in-depth report on the Brandon Volunteer Fire Department and Tom A.
Savage will bring you the details from Monday night's Brandon City Council meeting.

A local church has added Spanish worship services to its programming and a Brandon Valley teacher, wife and mother is now adding entrepreneur to her resume.

Plus, we've got the stories on what went down in the BVHS Activities Center when the Lynx girls and boys basketball teams hosted SoDak 16 games over the weekend, as well as a report from Huset's Speedway where not cars, but snowmobiles took to the track in new wintertime event that's likely to become a staple here for seasons to come.

We also have a photo
page of the BV Fine Arts Booster's variety show along with some post-season high school
wrestling honors.

If you find yourself asking, "I wonder what's going on ...?" It's time to
